v1 Heading to the East Coast and I don't know where I'm going; I'd like to see Virginia, and sleep where it is snowing Stare at the Blue Ridge from my woodstove heated room; Wake up in the Springtime, when the Dogwoods are in bloom v2 San Francisco Summer fog rolls in like frozen mush; I'm Heading to the East Coast, where the Summer's warm and lush I'll Walk New England's green woods, run barefoot on the grass; And wander around naked without freezing off my ass v3 Heading back to the West Coast, to see my girl and brand new baby; Don't know how I got 'em, but I'll step up to the plate Packing up my truck; got my dog and my belongings; Baby's due any day now; I hope I'm not too late v4 Heading back to the East Coast, try to make a brand new start; My little daughter left this world and took along my heart I'll go back to New York, but there's been a lot of change; There's a hole in the ground and the skyline is strange

If I find myself along the way I'll be sure to write a letter to drop a card to place a call to write a letter to you
